BIG SUMMER'S WORK

D. G. Cameron and C. E. Hart, who have cyanided tailings dumps in Austin for the past two seasons, finished a big summer's work in September, which included the treatment of 3500 tons from the mill at the foot of the grade. They handled all the stuff with teams and scrapers and the expense of their operations was at the minimum. The tailings from Lander hill rock averaged three ounces in silver per ton. Jack Pot tailings, aggregating $1500 tons, ran $1 per ton in gold, in addition to the silver content.—Austin Reville.

AIN'T IT THE TRUTH?

The Elko Free Press advertises for a steady 15-year-old boy to work, the wages being small at first. The Free Press ought to know better. The present-day 15-year-old boy is either teaching his best girl the latest one-step or reading about the McFarland-Gibbons fight and is too busy to work. And as for small wages—oh, horrors, no!—Virginia Enterprise.

For results, advertise in the Daily Bonanza.

EVERYBODY BUSTED BUT J. P. JUNIOR

NEW YORK IS OUT OF COIN WITH EXCEPTION OF NATIONAL CITY BANK CROWD

If anybody has an idea that Nevada is not a good place to reside in at present, owing to financial conditions, it would do him good to read a ludicrously pathetic letter received by a Tonopah man from a broker in the metropolis. A few excerpts may be given for his enlightenment and benefit.

"The damnable villains! All want something for nothing. There is nothing doing with the antimony crowd for Nevada at present, although they do say that it is not dead, but delay, delay; that is about all we can get from them.

"The telegraph people keep a continuous stream of small but loud-mouthed messengers bombarding the office to deliver a $1.08 wire from Goldfield, until at last I had to go to the Western Union office and forcibly notify them that I would clean out their blooming place if they further annoyed the people at this office. Naturally, old chap, I am sorry I am not in a position to pay your telegraph charges. We are so damn close to the bunkers that there is no space between.

"It seems hardly possible that you would rush a wire which would cost me money you know I don't have, except under some extraordinary circumstance where you had to send it to make good on some statement. If I had $1.08 I would go up on the farm for a few days.

"You spoke of trying to get someone there to send you here. For God's sake or your own don't think of it unless they stake you to a return ticket, that is if it is for the purpose of having you sell something here or raise some money for something there. There ain't no such thing as money in New York, unless it be for the foreign loan, or war munitions, and no one gets any of that but Morgan and the

WILL STOCK NYE WITH CHOICE GAME BIRDS

CONSIGNMENT OF PHEASANTS REACHES COUNTY CLERK'S OFFICE THIS MORNING

Under the provisions of the fish and game law, the money derived from the sale of sportsmen's licenses is expended for the improvement of the fishing and hunting grounds. Two experiments were undertaken by County Clerk Pohl earlier in the season in the matter of raising wild turkeys and edible frogs here, but not with complete success, owing to the difficulty in getting the importations acclimated.

Mr. Pohl finds that the Chinese pheasant, a game bird that affords not only excellent sport but is capable of gracing the table of an epicure, is particularly adapted to the conditions prevailing here. He ordered a consignment of them and the first lot arrived this morning by express from Oregon. The crate contained 28 pheasants, shipped from Oregon. They will be released at Duckwater, Currant creek and Pah-rump.

HEAVY SHIPMENT OF LAMBS

Last week there were several trainloads of Lander county lambs shipped out over the Nevada Central. The shipments were made by buyers for the Los Angeles market and the bulk of the five or six thousand that went out came from the flocks of the Lander County Live Stock company.—Reville.

National City bank crowd.

"There are about 200,000 war brokers here—all broke—all living in expectation of an order which is just going over and never does. Because of this situation 'yours truly' has coined this phrase: 'The war has corrupted more morals in the United States by developing a few million lying war brokers than any other happening in the world's history.'

AMUSEMENTS

BUTLER THEATER

Hall Caine, whose resemblance to Shakespeare has never been denied, achieved world-wide fame with his novel "The Christian." The play which he subsequently wrote ran for many years in the United States and was one of the triumphs of Miss Viola Allen. Some years have elapsed since the Liebler company made its production of "The Christian," but its faith in the wonderful human appeal of this story is still very much alive, the film version of which will be the attraction at the Butler this evening. It took eight months of hard and continuous work to manufacture in moving photography the story of "The Christian." One of the scenes reveals a reception at the home of a wealthy American woman living on Fifth avenue, New York. Her daughter is the type of the rich American girl who becomes the victim of an ambitious mother, and becomes a vivid lesson to those who blindly try to force their daughters into fashionable marriage. It is a picture that will hold you. The night show will start at 6:45 instead of 7 o'clock, on account of the length of the picture. Everyone is urged to come early. No preliminary reel—the feature will start at 6:45; second show at 8:45. Tomorrow, by special requests, the return of another great picture, "Kreutzer Sonata," featuring Nance O'Neil, Theda Bara and William E. Shay.—Adv.

SIMMERONE GETTING VALUES

Highly encouraging results are being obtained by the management of the New Goldfield Simmerone Mining company in the development work being prosecuted on the 100-foot level of the property. Walter Trent of Reno, secretary and treasurer of the company, who is at present in camp on a visit of inspection, expressed himself as much pleased with conditions prevailing at the Simmerone as well as other properties throughout the district.—Tribune.

T. A. FRAZIER, chief clerk for the Tonopah Mining company of Nevada, was called to Goldfield on company business this morning.
